

Video Presentation

Attendees had the opportunity to watch a video recreating the events of the Ghost Blimp's flight on August 16, 1942. The video starts when the L-8 was still a Goodyear blimp, before it was requisitioned by the U.S. Navy for use in patrolling the U.S. coasts in search of enemy submarines.

Material About the Ghost Blimp Displayed at the MAPS Museum

The material available for visitors to peruse included several articles relating to the Ghost Blimp, the U.S. Navy's L-8 airship, photos of the crash site and pictures of the control car which is on display at the National Naval Aviation Museum in Pensacola, Florida.