

A model of the new Zeppelin LZ N07-101 with the current blimp, a GZ20A, in the background

Airship mechanic Tom Bradley attaches a tensioning cable to a triangle section as part of the interior structure the airship

Airship mechanic Tom Bradley works on the aircraft.

Structural mechanic Markus Draeger fastens a longerone to the triangle section as part of the interior structure of the new craft

Tom Bradley, left, and Markus Draeger attach longerones to the triangle sections as part of the interior structure of Goodyear's new Zeppelin LZ N07-101

Plain Dealer Photos by Lonnie Timmons III

